Living in Catral on the Costa Blanca

Catral is a popular choice for buyers looking to buy property on the Costa Blanca while enjoying more space and tranquillity than typically found in the busier coastal areas.

The surrounding area is characterised by its authentic Mediterranean landscape and detached properties on generous plots, while everyday amenities and nearby towns remain easily accessible.

Buying a finca in Catral can therefore be an excellent option for permanent living as well as for those looking for a spacious second home in Spain.

Why choose a finca on the Costa Blanca?

A finca offers something that can be harder to find in other types of Costa Blanca property: space, privacy and freedom.

Combined with the Mediterranean climate and abundant sunshine, this property is an attractive choice for buyers who want to enjoy outdoor living in Spain while remaining within convenient reach of local amenities and the wider Costa Blanca region.

A spacious finca with interesting possibilities

With more than 200 m² of built area, three bedrooms, a generous master suite and over 4,400 m² of land, this finca offers an attractive combination of indoor and outdoor space.

The currently undeveloped section of the land with its own separate access adds an interesting extra dimension to the property.

An excellent opportunity for anyone searching for property for sale in Catral, a finca on the Costa Blanca, or simply a spacious home in Spain where tranquillity, privacy and outdoor living take centre stage.
